

PRIVATE SECURITY

BASIS SECURITY SYSTEM OF PERSONS, PROPERTY AND BUSINESS (Term, subject and significance of the security of persons, property and business System, security of persons, property and business as a core business function, A review of the historical development of the system security of persons, property and business, System security of persons, property and business as a subsystem in the security system, Business of insurance companies as a function of system security of persons, property and business system, Security of persons, property and business and environmental protection, Display system security of persons, property and business and standards in this area in the world); FORMS OF COOPERATION SYSTEM SECURITY persons, property and operations with other agencies and organizations (Cooperation with professional services in the legal entity and management, Cooperation with organizational units of the Ministry of internal affairs, Cooperation with public prosecutors and court cooperation with the competent inspection units cooperation with other security systems and international organizations, importance of cooperation with security and protection of legal persons); LEGAL REGULATORY OF ORGANIZATION AND SECURITY SYSTEM OF PROTECTION FOR PERSONS AND PROPERTY AS WELL CORPORATE BUSINESS Regulations, Federal regulations, Republic regulations, internal regulations, responsibility for the implementation of security of persons, property and business, general and individual acts of security of persons, property and business (regulations and guidelines), Concept, significance and types of general and individual acts Elements for general and individual acts of security of persons, property and business, Content general and individual acts, proposing and adoption of general and individual acts); Basic sources and forms of endangering persons, property and business (source of threat, external sources of threats, the Internal sources of threats, the combined sources of threats, the forms of threats, Theft, Fraud, evasion, industrial espionage, embezzlement, computer crime); SYSTEM COMPONENTS security of persons, property and business (Physical Component of System, Security Manager, Security Department , Concept, importance and role of security department in the security system protection of persons, property and business. Necessary conditions for the operation of services of physical security. System of organization of department of security , competence, authority services of physical security, internal organization of the services of physical security, Human resources services of physical security, Code of Professional Conduct workers of physical security, communication, conflict, and the creation of personal identity - the image of the physical security of workers, tasks and duties of workers of physical security services, reports and records services of physical security, internal control, internal investigations, protection, recovery and verification of data and information, technical component system, Concept, characteristics and significance of the technical components of the system, elements of technical components (mechanical and electronic protection), Location of technical components in the security system and protection of persons, property and business, the Security protective component of the system, Concept, importance, function and organization, Subjects of security and safety components, Preventive action directed towards some forms of threats to assets, persons and Business, decoration of the building and its environment, the Rules of Conduct and communication with segments of protection - safety culture, control of movement and residence of persons on the premises or in the area of legal persons, protection of intellectual property, term, types and possible ways of checking the creditworthiness of legal entities, Methodology selection of new employees in terms of security management, security and safety procedures, standard BZP, BZP Specific, monitoring system, monitoring, analysis and evaluation of professional staff); Proactive and reactive measures WITHIN THE SYSTEM SECURITY